Redondo Woman Slain by Mate

A victim of her husband's murderous attack, Mrs. Ruth Hay, 45, of Redondo Beach, died of injuries en route to Torrance Memorial hospital in an ambulance Tuesday morning. Doyle Hay, 45, a veteran employee of the Redondo Beach street department, attempted to kill himself but is now recovering. The tragedy is said to be the climax of a long series of domestic quarrels.

With Mrs. Hay in the ambulance when she expired of injuries about her head was her attacker who was given first aid at the hospital here and then removed to the county jail. Mrs. Hay succumbed to repeated blows on the head with an auto crank. Hay first tried to kill himself with a piece of iron pipe and then endeavored to finish the job by stabbing himself near the heart with a pocket knife, according to the Redondo Beach police.

The family consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Hay, a son Lee, eight years old, and a step-son Noel Hayden, 23 years of age. It was the latter who is considered a valuable witness for the state. He told officers he was awakened by hearing his mother moaning. He rushed in to find her covered with blood and with the husband standing over her still holding the death weapon.

Hayden said he called his stepfather with a blow and then gave all his attention to his badly injured mother. Meantime the younger son, Lee, had run to neighbors calling for aid. After being knocked down, it is asserted, Hay rose, went to the garage and there tried to end it all.

Serving on the examining board for the Los Angeles school district when prospective teachers from out of the county were questioned three days this week, was Miss Elizabeth Parks, vice principal of Torrance high school.

Miss Genevieve Fodera, of Boise, Idaho, is enjoying a month's visit with Mrs. Helen Berry, elementary school teacher, who lives at 1750 Marina avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Sefti have as their guest Mrs. Scott's niece Miss Cleora Yessen, of Kansas City, Kan.

Tentative School Budget Slashed

Los Angeles school board members this week began consideration of the $23,555,464 budget for 1949-50 proposed by Supt. Virgil Kersay, who said he had already cut two and one-half million dollars from expenditures proposed by school department heads. The new tentative budget is said to be $158,861 less than the all-time record cost of city schools, including Torrance and Long Beach in the current fiscal year.

Included are provisions to raise the pay of elementary school teachers from $244 to $251 per month, more funds for administration, instruction and auxiliary agencies but less for school plant operation, maintenance and fixed charges.

Job Gains Noted By State Bureau

Reflecting general business improvement, the State Department of Employment today announced a 12.2 percent gain in private placements made during April over March, 1949, with 20,413 workers being placed in private employment, according to Edwin A. Bird, manager of the Torrance-South Bay office of the department.

Corresponding decreases in unemployment insurance payments were experienced during the same period. Bird indicated, with payments decreasing from $5,511,333 in March to an April total of $4,028,732.

Claims for partial benefits increased 189 percent during the past month over the corresponding period a year ago with $175,074 being distributed against the $155,233 paid during April, 1939. This sharp increase in partial claims may be attributed, Bird said, to a tendency on the part of benefit claimants to accept part-time work in lieu of full unemployment insurance checks during periods of enforced lay-off.

Continuing its drive against unemployment insurance cheaters, the department revealed that during April, 43 cheaters falsifying for benefits had been prosecuted and sentenced to fines or jail terms.

Claimants in this area received $2,252 in unemployment insurance benefits for the month of May, Bird said, who emphasized that a distribution of these funds in the purchasing power of the unemployed.

Cave Open in Angeles Park Now

Sequoia National Park's unique Crystal Cave has just been opened to the public every day from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Trips through the cavern start every hour on the hour. The cave is reached by a seven mile automobile trip from Grant Forest over the Colony Hill Road followed by a two mile trail hike. Four hours should be set aside for the round trip from Grant Forest. Including one hour guide trip through the cave. The two mile trail covers a descent of 1500 feet in elevation, and only those in reasonable physical condition should attempt the trip pending completion of additional road work upon which CCC crews are now engaged.

Fishing is Alaska's greatest industry.

Local Crop Report Shows Farmers Are Getting Good Returns

Second crop showings around the Torrance-South Bay area, one of high quality and good size, and will be available for another month on local market for the past few years, according to the June 1 report of the county agricultural department.

First of the local tomatoes added late night in the tops were ready for market about May 1. The early crop will not come for fully 10 weeks. Summer and fall crops are being planned for late May, June and July.

them in the Pales Verdes Hills area, will extend the season until winter frosts come, inspectors reported.

In the truck crop division, both water and pressure have made money for the farmers, Ryan said. The early market, due to strong demand, has been a profitable one for the past few years. The early crop will continue the county agricultural department another month or six weeks, and will be available for the report.
